EXTENDERS

Immigration Extenders and H-2B. The immigration provisions reauthorize four visa programs and the E-verify employment eligibility verification system. Three of the programs and E-Verify are historically reauthorized in this manner each year. The visa programs to be reauthorized include the Conrad-30 program for foreign doctors, the EB-5 investor visa regional center program, and the religious workers (R-1) program. The provisions also grant the Secretary of Homeland Security discretion to add more H-2B visas to the 66,000 H-2B visas currently authorized to be issued annually. This provision has been included in recent years as a means to address extreme shortages in the domestic workforce.

Charter of the U.S. Export-Import Bank (EXIM or Bank). Seven years authorization and it includes provisions from legislation pending in the House and Senate to reauthorize the Bank. The title provides for procedures to establish a temporary board in the absence of a sufficient number of Senate-confirmed Directors to comprise a quorum. This title would establish the Program on China and Transformational Exports and direct the EXIM to set a goal of reserving 20% of its exposure authority to support American exports that compete directly with exports from the People’s Republic of China and certain advanced or innovative technology exports. The title would also require the EXIM to report to Congress that the Bank has consulted with the Department of State and other appropriate agencies to assess the risk to the national interest of transactions over $25 million for which EXIM believes the end-user, obligor or lender is an entity of or controlled by the People’s Republic of China. This title would revise the small business policy of the EXIM to direct the Bank to encourage the participation of a broad range of small business exporters, increase the threshold of small business financed exports as a percentage of total exports from 25% to 30% beginning January 1, 2021, and exclude unutilized insurance authorizations from the calculation of total small business exports. This title would also direct the EXIM to set a goal of reserving 5% of its exposure authority to support renewable energy, energy efficiency, and energy storage technology exports. This title would also require the EXIM to deny an application for financing if the end user, borrower, lender or exporter has been convicted of an act of fraud or corruption in connection with an EXIM application for financing in the preceding five years, unless the convicted person can be excluded from the transaction.

Terrorism Risk Insurance Program Reauthorization Act of 2019 (S. 2877). Identical in substance to H.R. 4634, reauthorizes the Program for seven years through December 31, 2027 and adjusts the timing of mandatory recoupment commensurately. Additionally, it establishes two new reporting requirements, including: (1) the Treasury Department to include in its biennial report on the effectiveness of the Program to include an evaluation of the availability and affordability of terrorism risk insurance, including specifically for places of worship; and (2) the Government Accountability Office to analyze and address, and report on, the vulnerabilities and potential costs of cyber terrorism, adequacy of coverage under the Program, and to make recommendations for future legislative changes to address evolving cyber terrorism risks.

Directs the State Department to assist in facilitating resolution of pending terrorism claims between American victims and the Palestinian Authority/Palestine Liberation Organization. Further, this provision protects health benefits for miners impacted by coal company bankruptcies that took place in 2018 and 2019. Without this provision, in the coming year, 92,000 coal miners’ pensions would have been dramatically reduced and the health care benefits for 13,000 miners would have been eliminated.

would be used for the next data reporting period. Data, however, would be reported during a different reporting period (January 1st, 2021 through March 31st, 2021), a one-year delay from current regulations allowing a more representative share of labs to report private payor payment rate data.
